

Philosophy of Borders

– NATIONS, STATES AND IMMIGRATION –

February 3

CEU, Gellner Room (MONUMENT BUILDING, NÁDOR 9, 1051 BUDAPEST)

9.30-9.45: Opening: Michael L. Miller (CEU Nationalism Studies)

9.45-11.15: Citizenship and the limits of justice (Chair: TBA)

Szabolcs Pogonyi (CEU): Citizenship and cultural selectivity

Ashwini Vasanthakumar (King's College London): The problem of multiple political allegiance

Desiree Lim (Stanford University): Selecting immigrants by skill: a case of wrongful discrimination?

Bouke de Vries (Max Planck Institute): Volunteering as a pathway to permanent residence and citizenship

11.15-11.30: Coffee break

11.30-13.00: Territorial rights and political theory (Chair: Margaret Moore, Queen's University)

Christine Habbard (Singapore University of Technology and Design): Borders, political boundedness and territorial rights

Kerstin Reibold (University of Mannheim): Borders within borders - the case of border and membership control by national minorities

Colin Grey (Université du Québec à Montréal): Immigration and Instability

Kjartan Koch Mikalsen (University of Oslo): The irrelevance of history: a pure functionalist account of territorial rights

Marion Godman (Helsinki University): A unified account of social membership for politics and science?

13.00-14.00: Lunch break

14.00-15.30: Membership and free movement rights (Chair: Szabolcs Pogonyi, CEU)

Benjamin Boudou (Max Planck Institute): Immigration and the principle of affected interests: a pluralistic application

Attila Tanyi (University of Liverpool): Consequentialism and its demands: the role of institutions

Eszter Kollár (Goethe University Frankfurt): Fair terms of benefiting from skills across borders

Gottfried Schweiger (University of Salzburg): Against Emigration

15.30-15.45: Coffee break

15.45-17.15: Self-determination and inequality (Chair: Zoltán Miklósi, CEU)

Bennet Francis (University of Reading): The right to exclude, self-determination and "associativism"

Kelly Tuke (University of Bern): Distinguishing the right to self-determination from the right to exclude

Ayelet Banai (The University of Haifa) and Eszter Kollár (Goethe University):

Global equality of opportunity and the permissible scope of self-determination: trade-off or reconciliation?

Laura Ferracioli (University of Amsterdam): By soil, by blood or by what? Children, citizenship and immigration

17.30-19.00: Keynote (Popper Room): Margaret Moore (Queen's University): Territorial rights and political self-determination

February 4

Library and Information Center of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences
(ARANY JÁNOS 1, 1051 BUDAPEST)

9.30-10.30: Keynote: David Miller (University of Oxford): Our Responsibilities to Refugees

10.45-12.15: Borders as boundaries (Chair: Csaba Olay, Eötvös Loránd University)

Ferenc Hörcher (HAS): The meaning of the city wall in the European tradition

David Lloyd Dusenbury (University of Leuven): Utopia's borders. Is it necessary to isolate a perfect city?

Timothy Tambassi (University of Bucharest): Beyond Bona-Fide and Fiat Boundaries. Geography, Taxonomies and Normativity

Martin Deleixhe (Université de Saint-Louis, Bruxelles): Foucault and Schmitt's conflicting views on borders (or why we should drop Agamben's concept of biopolitical sovereignty)

12.15-12.30: Coffee break

12.30-14.00: Immigration in democratic theory (Chair: David Miller, Oxford University)

Georgiana Turculet (CEU): Miller on the least discussed migration policies affecting refugees. The Syrian case

Norbert Paulo (University of Salzburg): Migration and the limits of democracy

Dóra Kis-Jakab (HAS): Ideal theory's borders

Miodrag Jovanovic (University of Belgrade): How to Normatively Theorize Immigration? Demographic Politics in a Liberal Democracy

14.00-15.00: Lunch break

15.00-16.30: Refugees and institutionalized solidarity (Chair: Dóra Kis-Jakab, HAS)

Konstantinos Papageorgiou (National and Kapodistrian University of Athens): Justice and solidarity towards refugees

Rutger Birnie (European University Institute): Liberal democracy and just deportations

James Draper (University of Reading): Disaggregating climate migration

Milla Emilia Vaha (University of Turku): A human right to the state? Climate change, state-extinction and the Small Island States

Tally Kritzman Amir (College of Law and Business, Israel): Mass Influx

16.30-16.45: Coffee break

16.45-18.00: The phenomenology of boundaries (Chair: Ferenc Hörcher, HAS)

Csaba Olay (Eötvös Loránd University): Implicit regional and explicit national identity

Christopher Szabla (Cornell University): August Wilhelm Heffter's liberal cosmopolitanism: Freedom of movement in nineteenth century jurisprudence

Carl Cederberg (Södertörn University): Refugees, rights and responsibility

